Ayer's

Give nature three helps, and nearly every case of consumption will recover. Fresh air, most important of all.

Cherry Pectoral

Nourishing food comes next. Then, a medicine to control the cough and heal the lungs. Ask any good doctor.

First used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral 25 years ago. I have seen terrible cases of lung disease cured by it. I am never without it.
 ALBERT G. HAMILTON, Marietta, Ohio.
 J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Consumption

Health demands daily action of the bowels. Aid nature with Ayer's Pills.

HANOVER.

Gash in His Neck.

 Willard Barker of Sandy Creek recently visited his sister, Mrs. Sarah Gammon and attended Crescent Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he is a member.

EAST STONEHAM.

Birthday Party.
 On Tuesday evening the 3d, there was a party held at the residence of Mrs. Mary A. Stearns, East Stoneham, in honor of Mrs. Sally Whitehouse, who had attained her 86th birthday. Her descendants and friends, about twenty-five in number, assembled at an early hour in the evening. Most of them brought some token of love and good will to cheer the heart of the aged lady. A very pleasant evening was passed. A treat was furnished, and the company were entertained by music, selections given on the graphophone by Mr. Stearns, a grandson of Mrs. Whitehouse. Mrs. W. is remarkably smart for a woman of her age. In time of sickness and trouble, her ever willing hand and good counsel are highly prized by her numerous descendants. She manages to keep informed on the topics of the day and knows what is passing in the outside world. We hope she may be spared to celebrate her birthday for several years to come, and that it may be our pleasure and privilege to be present.

The water is still very low in springs, brooks and ponds.
 Christie Parker is visiting friends in Boston and Abington, Mass.
 The spool mill at Lynchville is shut down for repairs. We understand also that W. H. Plummer, who has been engineer there so many years, is having a vacation.

 Rev. L. M. Robinson of Philadelphia has given the call 500 books. This library is to be called the Increase Library and is in charge of the postmaster A. L. Palmer, and is for the use of the residents of the village. By paying two cents, one book may be kept two weeks.

BUCKFIELD.

Fancy Birds.
 Larkin Farrar has been raising and shipping fancy birds for years. His place is in the heart of the village and he has written of his shipping eggs and birds to the uttermost parts of the country, down South, to Texas, Mexico and where not, but it was last Tuesday I was surprised when I asked him to show me his stock. He has about 800 and eight or nine varieties, and none of them of the common varieties such as are generally found among the farmers. He will pass along and designate their pedigree without the least hesitation, and generally the higher the strain the more rakish they appear to the uninitiated.

C. B. Atwood recently visited Boston on business.
 Wm. Record, I. W. Shaw and Alfred Cole are improving in health.
 Rev. Mr. Prince is now occupying the M. E. parsonage, his wife coming Saturday.
 Charles Bowen's fingers came in contact with a buzz planer at Irish Bros.' die-block works.
 H. E. Davis of Auburn has recently installed an electric lighting plant at Irish Bros.' mill.
 V. P. DeCoster and wife went, Monday, to Auburn to attend the Maine Pomological meeting.
 It is expected that Rev. W. D. Atherton will become pastor of the Baptist church here and at East and West Sumner.
 Buckfield Literary Club met Tuesday with Mrs. Belle Nulty. The Nesimont History Club met on the same day with Mrs. Minnie Gerrish.
 The Turner Center corn pack is being shipped from this station, as is the product of the Buckfield factory, and apples there seems to be no end of them.

NORTH WATERFORD.

A Great Improvement.
 Wm. Bolton, landscape gardener of South Paris, has been working at North Waterford with a big crew of men at the new Odd Fellows' hall for the past four weeks, grading, turfing, laying out flower beds and putting in cement walks, one of which is 22 feet, 10 inches long and 6 feet wide from the front entrance to the main road. It is admired and praised by every one who passes by as a wonderful piece of work. It is the pride of the place. Wm. Bolton is now at work for Capt. Lyons, U. S. Navy, on Paris Hill, planting trees and fixing rose bushes for the winter.

Jacob Dresser is improving in health.
 Dr. Coolidge's father of Canton has recently visited at North Waterford. Harry Brown is grading the grounds around his new house.
 The ladies' circle will meet in the vestry, Friday evening, Nov. 13.
 Sewell Lyon and wife of Auburn visited at James Brown's last week.
 Mrs. Stella Hobson has come to visit relatives in Bethel and Bryant's Pond. She will be away two weeks.
 A new stone foundation is to be placed under the engine in the spool mill, which has shut down for several weeks for this purpose. Irving Frost of Norway is doing the stone work.
 The work done by Bolton of Paris on the grounds of the Odd Fellows is a great improvement to the appearance of this village. There are great possibilities in our triangular common and we wish a village improvement society could be formed and carry on the work so nicely begun by the Odd Fellows.

WEST FRYEBURG.

"A Feast of Reason."
 The Stirling Literary club showed its appreciation of the hospital at its hosts by a large attendance at its after-noon meeting Nov. 3, and the appearance upon the evening entertainment of the club husbands at the home of the entertainers, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. E. Hutchins.
 Mrs. Marion Chandler the new president directed the affairs of the afternoon with dignity and contributed to the program by reading in the line of current events an extract from a scientific treatise upon sun spots now attracting much interest. Mrs. Jones read selections on topics of current interest including a paragraph regarding Lieut. Peary and his work past and prospective, and other members contributed items of interest. Mrs. Hutchins sang some effective songs which were greatly enjoyed. Some specially the quotations particularly a poem read by Mrs. Meserve calls for due mention.
 At 4 p. m., the club adjourned and several of them repaired to the kitchen to assist the hostess in her arrangements for the bountiful supper served a little later to the 30 or more present.
 In the evening there was whist and other card games and singing by Mrs. Hutchins which was much appreciated.
 About 11 p. m. the guests separated, well pleased with their social outing and entertainment. The next meeting of the club, an afternoon session, will be held with Miss Walker at the home of her mother, Mrs. L. G. Hardy, Nov. 17.

Pascal B. Hutchins lies in a critical condition at his home at H. D. E. Hutchins', having been seized with an apoplectic fit on Wednesday morning last.
 Mrs. Orin Heath of the Green Hill neighborhood suffers from a fracture of the ribs and other injuries from a recent fall. All her friends are hoping for a favorable progress in her case.
 T. J. Bragdon is at Frank Stevens' for the winter.
 Mrs. Sarah Stevens visited relatives in Conway last week.
 Edwin Walker cut his foot quite badly last week while cutting some small pines in his pasture.
 Mrs. Mary Walker has been quite ill for some weeks, requiring the attendance of a physician.
 Paschal Hutchins suffered a slight shock last week. He was confined to his right side. He is very comfortable at his writing.
 Frank Stevens availed himself of the opportunity to visit Boston on the excursion of the B. & M. railroad, which left North Conway, N. H., Nov. 5.

Signs Bond And Takes All Risk.

Frank Kimball has such faith in Mi-o-na the Flesh-Forming Food, He Sells it Under Guarantee.

Not one time in 500 does Mi-o-na fail to cure dyspepsia. It is because of its remarkable power to cure this disease that Frank Kimball is able to sell it in the following unusual way.

With every 50c box Frank Kimball gives a signed guarantee bond to refund the price if the purchaser can honestly tell him that it has not given freedom from stomach troubles, increased flesh and restored health. The risk is all Frank Kimball's, as the following bond which he signs fully shows:

GUARANTEE BOND.

I hereby agree to refund the price paid for Mi-o-na, if the purchaser tells me that it has not increased flesh and given freedom from stomach troubles. FRANK KIMBALL.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive that simply gives temporary relief. While it helps the food to digest, it also has a positive strengthening action upon the digestive organs and puts the whole system in proper physical condition. It restores power to the nerves of the stomach and in this way gives that important organ the power to digest food. In this way natural flesh is regained and health restored.

Remember that you risk nothing in buying Mi-o-na. The bond protects you, so that if it fails to give the desired effect, Frank Kimball will return your money without question and without argument.

Miss Alice M. Smith, of Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering may be quickly and permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I ran across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."—Miss ALICE M. SMITH, 804 Third Ave., South Minneapolis, Minn., Chairman Executive Committee Minneapolis Study Club.

Beauty and strength in women vanish early in life because of monthly pain or some menstrual irregularity. Many suffer silently and see their best gifts fade away. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women preserve roundness of form and freshness of face because it makes their entire female organism healthy. It carries women safely through the various natural crises and is the safeguard of woman's health. The truth about this great medicine is told in the letters from women published in this paper constantly.

Mrs. C. Kleinschrodt, Morrison, Ill., says:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered ever since I was thirteen years of age with my menses. They were irregular and very painful. I doctored a great deal but received no benefit. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and after taking a few bottles of it, I found great relief. Menstruation is now regular and without pain. I am enjoying better health than I have for sometime."

How is it possible for us to make it plainer that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will positively help all sick women? All women are constituted alike, rich and poor, high and low, all suffer from the same organic troubles. Surely, no one can wish to remain weak and sickly, discouraged with life and without hope for the future, when proof is so unmistakable that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure monthly suffering—all womb and ovarian troubles, and all the ills peculiar to women.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

MRS. DANIEL'S WAY

By Epes W. Sargent

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY T. C. McCLURE

Twenty minutes later, Carlisle, lulled by the easy motion of the train, dropped off to sleep, his mind filled with visions of a petite figure crowned with a pretty oval face wreathed in golden hair. He had forgotten to ask her name, but he determined that her last name should be Carlisle in spite of Mrs. Daniels and Helen Standish.

The next morning his berth had been made up long before she made her appearance.

"I want to ask you something," he said as he dropped into the seat beside her, in answer to the invitation in her eyes. "Last night I was willing to go to Denver and be married, but now I am not. I want you to help me save myself from the fate that awaits me."

"There is a girl I love desperately," he hurried on, and he noted with joy that her face clouded. "I am not a person of impulse, but I love her devotedly and always shall. I want you to marry me before I get to Denver, and then I can face Mrs. Daniels. My old friend, Bishop Dayton, is on the train. He can vouch for me and will perform the service. Will you?"

"But how will my marrying you help you to win the girl you love?" she interposed.

"Because," he said impulsively, "you are the woman I love and shall love till death, God helping me." Then, somehow, he was holding her hand and looking very foolish, while in her eyes the love light glowed through a merry twinkle.

The marriage was not difficult to arrange. The bishop occupied the state-room, and there they were married with the Pullman conductor and the train conductor for witnesses. Then the good old bishop got out his portfolio and prepared to fill out the marriage certificate.

"My child," he said kindly, "it is strange, but I do not know your last name. What name shall I fill in here?"

A tiny smile flitted over her face. "Helen Standish," she said simply, and turned to her husband.

Carlisle looked aghast for a moment, then he broke into a hearty laugh. "I told you," he said, "that Maude Daniels always had her own way. I'm glad of it." And he kissed her.

Just Like Papa.

Little Willie Posthewalt, age three, brought an avalanche of ridicule on the head of the house recently. The colored man was selected to wash the cellar ceiling and walls. He did the job well. A few days after completion, while the family was dinner, the dogbell rang. Willie ran to open the door, and the colored man stepped in with his bill.

Willie walked backward till he stood in the dining room entrance.

"Who is it, Willie?" inquired his mother.

"It's a man," answered the child.

"What kind of a man?"

"Well, it's a man; just like papa. Only he's black."—New York Press.

Toper—What shall I take to remove the reds from my nose?

Doctor—Take nothing.

Trate Father—Ah! how is it I catch you kissing my daughter sir? Answer me six.

Young Man—Fine, sir; fine.

Jones—This talk about Friday being unlucky is all nonsense. My wife accepted me on a Friday.

Smith—But how about your wife?

Mr. Quales—Well, I see old Goldman is dead and leaves upward of three millions. Wouldn't you like to be his widow?

Mrs. Quales (sweetly)—No, dear, nothing could possibly delight me more than just to be yours.

"If I go into this deal," said the man with a little capital, "what will you do?"

"You," replied the promoter, absently.

Teacher—If you had eight pennies and Billy had four, and you took his and put them with yours, what would that make?

"Trouble."

Patient—I am always afraid I'll be buried alive.

Doctor (aside)—Ah, here's one person that has faith in me!

"Those two hats look alike," said the dealer, "but, nevertheless, there is a marked difference in them."

"Yes," rejoined the prospective customer, "I see one is marked $2 more than the other."

"I don't like your shore line here," commented a visitor at the summer resort. "It's high where it ought to be low, and low where it ought to be high."

"Then it's just like the costumes of the bathers, ain't it?" said the owner of resort, refilling his cob pipe.

The Bride—I told hubby I was going to give him something of my own cooking, and he said I'd better try it on the dog first. Wasn't that a cruel suggestion?

Her Friend—Yery! And I thought your husband was so fond of dogs.

Revolutionary Soldiers.

There are always several divisions of an army in any war. The Revolutionary army was no exception to the rule. By vote of the Continental Congress a certain number of regiments were raised for a term of years. These were the regulars and formed the nucleus of the Continental army. To this was added the militia whenever necessary, and there was scarcely a battle of any magnitude in which one or more regiments did not take part; and in one or two of the principal engagements this branch of the military arm of the government was used.

In olden days everyone between the ages of 18 and 45, unless incapacitated, was obliged to do military duty. This formed the militia. During the Revolution, there was another body of troops which came into prominence, at least in certain parts of New England, known as the "minutemen."

The demand for regulars and the extended use of the militia left many towns which were liable to attack with no means of defence; and so men beyond the age when they were acceptable for active military duty and boys under the age of 18 banded themselves together to form this defence.

One of these minute men was the second settler in that part of Bakerstown which is now Minot—Capt. Daniel Bucknam. He came from Sutton, Mass., in 1778. In his younger days he was captain of artillery in the Massachusetts militia, but at the breaking out of the Revolution he was 53 years old and consequently beyond the military age. As the able-bodied men departed for war, the older men formed a company of minute men and Capt. Bucknam was put in command of them.

Capt. Bucknam bought 14 lots of land on the outlet of Matthews pond and on the shores of Bog brook, partly in Minot and partly in Hebron, and on some of the land his descendants live to-day.

He had two wives and 22 children. By his first wife he had 10 children, 14 of whom had died before he came to Maine. One of these, a daughter named Phoebe, married a man named Johnson and settled in Hebron. She was the first white woman to settle in Hebron and because of that fact was given a lot of land in that town by the proprietors.

When he settled in Minot he was five miles from the nearest neighbor, and grain had to be carried on his back by a blazed path to New Gloucester to be ground. A tradition has come down to us that on one of these trips Capt. Bucknam missed his footing and fell in such a way that the grain lay across his neck and he could neither lay nor remove the grain. As he did not arrive home at the appointed time, his daughter went in search of him and found him in this predicament.—[Mechanic Falls Ledger.

WEST PARIS.

A Girl Who Can Hit.

Foxes seem to be quite plenty as well as other large game. Nellie Marshall in company with five others went out hunting last Thursday morning. They were gone about two hours when Miss Marshall espied one of the wily creatures and shot it. Good! for one girl who can aim to hit. Mr. Emerson while out last week got badly bitten on the hand by a fox, while they were digging one out of his hole. He and his party have secured a goodly number.

On account of the rain last Thursday the W. C. T. U. meeting was postponed until the following day, Friday, when a good company gathered at Mrs. S. N. Young's. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Anna C. Young, vice president from the M. E. society. The reading for the afternoon was on the mercy department and a good program was rendered by Mrs. Emily L. Emmons, superintendent of that department. A very profitable afternoon was spent.

EAST HEBRON.

Quarterly Meeting and Ordination. The quarterly meeting last week was well attended and a very interesting session. An unusually large number of delegates and clergymen were present. Bowdoin quarterly furnished a larger number than others.

The meeting opened on Tuesday evening with the ordination of our local minister, Rev. Mr. Kelley who is greatly appreciated in his work among those in need of friends as well as in the desk.

The ordination sermon was given by Rev. J. B. Jordan who formerly labored here when an evangelist. It is needless to say he gave a very appropriate and interesting sermon in his usual manner. Rev. Z. Wheeler and Rev. Luther Tibbets were present, both former preachers in this place. Many others were strangers but all were listened to with marked attention. It was pronounced one of the most interesting quarterly meetings enjoyed here for many years.

Walk was given by Maria and Sammie Higgins, two coons from the Industrial school in Lancaster, Mass. It was well appreciated. Following was a farce entitled Sister Knights.

HARRISON.

A Mother in Israel.

The writer had a call last week from one Maine's smart old ladies, Mrs. Celia Soule. She is 84 years old, bright and interesting with all her faculties unimpaired. She lives alone from choice during the summer, doing all her work, but in winter closes her house and stays with her children. She told us she had seven children living, 37 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren. If these could all be gathered in one place would they not make a picture that would delight the heart of President Roosevelt?

Mrs. Alanson Dawes is quite ill at this writing.

WINTER SUITS

In choosing your Fall and Winter Suit bear in mind the two things that have the most to do with your good appearance—the CUT of the clothes and the PATTERN of the goods. It is in these features that our clothes excel. The makers have shown taste and skill in the choice of patterns and colorings. Among the correct fabrics are Fancy Worsteds and Cheviots in the new overplaids and fancy mixtures—greens, browns and grays. In plain, dark colors there are blue and black worsteds; tibbets and unfinished worsteds. Our clothes are reasonable in price and come in a wide range of sizes and cuts.
